It is incumbent on all of us as Christians to adopt a positive approach to intolerance in all its forms. We need to respect and be grateful for diversity, and whenever possible we should be looking for trust in and constructive dialogue with those who may have different views from our own.

We need also to remember that diversity is part of God's design. It was man who invented denominations. God was the supreme ecumenist.

Christian Aid Week is almost upon us and I'm hearing about lots of inspiring fundraising ideas in South and West Yorkshire! However you get involved this Christian Aid Week, you are making a huge difference to some of the world's poorest people. Thank you for your dedication in making Christian Aid Week happen in your community. I know it's no small task.

With every blessing,

Paul Furbey Regional Coordinator, South and West Yorkshire Christian Aid

Act and pray on climate change

This year, we're trying out some new initiatives to help us raise money to change the lives of people like Loko and Adi. We're testing seven inspiring community events and are looking for churches and groups to take part. Choose from an Auction of Promises, Big Breakfast, Coffee and Craft, Live Simply, Party in our Park, Pop-up Shop or Walk Against Want. There's an idea to suit everyone and we'll be on hand to help you every step of the way. Email

A cow has changed Adi's life. But to make sure that hope is lasting for Adi and millions of farmers like her, we need to act and pray to tackle climate change. Join us to put climate change on the agenda of the new government this Christian Aid Week.

Order prayer and action cards now from the Christian Aid Week site by visiting the 'For church and fundraising events' section.

ARE YOU PLANNING AHEAD?

As part of the Clifton Teaching and Discipleship Programe, the Rev Peter Edwards will lead a course on 'Dying and Rising' between 29th April and 27th May. Christian Vision for Men

Neil Fulcher is a member of the Elim Church who has a heart to network with other churches and men from across the town as a regional representative of Christian Vision for Men. He is putting on a monthly event for men from all churches (and none) that would help men network with other men, and over time to introduce them to Jesus. As Neil writes below, although this ministry is facilitated through the Elim Church in Rotherham the intention is that it supports men from across the town.

March 2015 Dear Sir / Madam

As 2015 starts to take shape I would be grateful if you could give me a few minutes of your time to see if the CVM Rotherham project is something that could benefit your Men's Ministry throughout 2015. It is completely free and there is no obligation required from you financially or otherwise.

CVM (Christian Vision for Men) is a nationally registered charity backed financially and supported by all the major Christian denominations in the UK. The CVM mission statement is to expand God's Christian family by introducing one million men to Christ.

This outreach is done by providing quality outreach events that local churches can link into free of charge. It gives the men of your church access to quality events that enable them to bring non-Christian family, friends and work colleagues together, as a way of introducing men to the spiritual curiosity that resides in all human beings. CVM is the event. Your church is the home that these new people will attend.

The upside of Christian denominations working together is that any interested people are channelled and funnelled directly into your church membership.

CVM operates through a local focus group in the town, city or village where you are based. Until now Rotherham did not have a CVM group. The Rotherham Group called MOA (Men of Action) is funded and based at Elim Centre, Rotherham and event meetings are always on the 1st Tuesday of every month.

Neil Fulcher (Certeficate of Education) as the official CVM Rotherham coordinator would love to come and share with you, your men and your Men's Ministry an interactive talk about the events and benefits that are being organised for Rotherham folk via the Men of Action MOA group.

The interactive presentation takes about 1 hour to deliver and is very informative and entertaining. We bring cold refreshments and nibbles to break the ice if you can provide tea and coffee.

This could be an ideal event to start 2015 off in your church's Men's Ministry. If you would like more information please contact me Neil Fulcher via the contact mentioned below. If you would like to book a presentation at a time and venue to suit you then please contact me with the details so the booking can be confirmed for you.

Thank you so much for your time in reading this letter and I do hope the common denominator in expanding God's Kingdom via Christian denominations working together will be an intriguing part of your 2015 evangelist outreach.

Yours in the work of our Lord Jesus Christ

Neil Fulcher

CVM / MOA Rotherham area coordinator

If you would like more information on how MOA can support the men in your church then please contact Neil at neilfulcher@btinternet.com

DON'T HANG BACK ---- GET INVOLVED!

When it comes to going the second mile, Christians are often quick to do their part. Doing that bit more than can reasonably be expected is basic thinking for the vast majority of believers.

Lending a cheerful and willing hand is a great form of self-imposed therapy for the doer, and it makes life better for those on the receiving end of the action, those in the local community. This is especially good when Christians are helping people who are not churchgoers or even believers. Little acts of kindness often reap a fine reward for God.

It often asks very little of the person who is willing and able to help, but it can be a real blessing for the recipient. Offering a lift to an otherwise probably housebound neighbour; asking if some shopping needs doing; offering to mow a lawn; just being happy to sit and chat with a needy person over a cup of tea ---- all things like these are simple acts that don't demand much of the helper but they add real life-value to others.

Are you already playing your part as a local volunteer, for a group, a charity, an individual? If so, thank you. Are you prepared to help make a planned local event the very best it can be? That is where volunteers often come into their own.

Do you know of someone, perhaps in your family, who could easily become a useful volunteer if given a little gentle encouragement?

There's an excellent, easy-to-use website to find an opportunity to volunteer. Go to www.do-it.org

If you would feel happier to make personal contact, try phoning Voluntary Action Rotherham and asking for the Rotherham Volunteer Centre. The number to phone is 01709384466.

Volunteers are true local heroes!
