Inspection findings

Effectiveness of the leadership and management is outstanding

The highly skilled manager and staff have a very thorough understanding of the statutory requirements. Arrangements for safeguarding are effective. All staff have an excellent understanding of their role in safeguarding children and know what to do if they are concerned about a child's welfare. This helps them to provide children with care and support which is of an excellent standard. The manager holds regular supervisions with staff and monitors their practice. She continually seeks ways to extend their knowledge and skills in support of their pursuit of excellence. She recognises the importance of continuing to enhance opportunities for professional development, in order to maintain the excellent standards achieved so far.

Quality of teaching, learning and assessment is outstanding

Children benefit from the support of a highly skilled staff team who know exactly how to enhance and motivate their learning. Monitoring and assessment of children's progress are extremely focused and accurate. This ensures any concerns about children's well-being or development are quickly identified and addressed. Staff and parents work extremely well in partnership to identify children's individual learning needs. Parents are highly involved and staff share innovative ideas for them to support their child's learning at home. Staff have high expectations of all children. They skilfully use children's interests to plan challenging and exciting activities which help them to achieve their next steps in learning. Children have excellent opportunities to learn about where food comes from. They enjoy cooking the vegetables they grow in their garden. Staff use their expert knowledge to extend children's language skills. All children, including those who speak English as an additional language, are highly confident communicators.

Personal development, behaviour and welfare are outstanding

Children are supported extremely well during the settling-in process and they form secure emotional attachments with their key person. This fosters children's self-esteem and sense of belonging. Children's social and emotional needs are exceptionally well met by staff. Relationships are excellent, fostering a sense of belonging and ensuring that children are confident learners. Staff are excellent role models, helping children to behave superbly and manage their own emotions. Staff teach children how to manage their care needs. They quickly develop their personal-hygiene skills and learn how to dress themselves. All children are well supported when it is time for them to move on to school. For example, staff create picture books for children of their new school and invite their teacher to visit the playgroup. This effectively helps to support children's emotional well-being during a time of change. Staff provide children with a wealth of inspirational and fun experiences for them to learn about their community and the wider world. For example, children enjoy tasting different foods brought in by families during festivals and celebrations.

Outcomes for children are outstanding

All children, including those who speak English as an additional language, make excellent progress from their starting points. Children are highly active and motivated learners. They are developing the key skills that support their future learning.
